Description

Next to unique coves with crystal clear waters and fine sand, in the southeast of Mallorca, in the municipality of Felanitx and next to the beautiful natural harbour of Portocolom, this traditional finca is built with the intention of integrating itself into a purely Mediterranean landscape.

The plot occupies 15.300 m2 within this natural environment that still preserves the original charm that gave Mallorca the name of island of calm. The splendid project has a surface area of 538 m2 and offers fabulous sea views. The house is surrounded by autochthonous trees, dream gardens and magnificent terraces with porches and a 72 m2 swimming pool that become exceptional places that invite calm and blend in with the landscape.

It is developed on two levels, built to the highest standards and designed by one of the most prestigious architects on the island, combining traditional techniques with state-of-the-art technological systems to create the perfect refuge between the countryside and the sea. The interiors have a modern design with straight lines and sloping ceilings with exposed wooden beams, full of light and creating a warm and welcoming atmosphere. There are 4 magnificent bedrooms with en-suite bathrooms. A large space on the ground floor is occupied by the large room that includes several living rooms, the dining room and the kitchen, all flooded with light thanks to the large windows and with access to the terraces and porches, ideal places to extend any after-dinner conversation.

The property offers comfortable parking spaces.

It should be noted that the concept of sustainability is very present throughout the project and the house will have, in addition to the public electricity grid, solar panels capable of generating 9.2 kw/h, which will provide it with autonomy as well as being able to use one of the cleanest renewable energies available.
